PROJECT

The "GREENgaged Citizens" Project is an initiative promoted by the Municipality of Pinhel, Portugal, whose goal is to place municipalities and local entities at the center of climate action, transforming climate and environmental challenges into opportunities.

In line with the objectives of the CERV program, the project intends to promote the exchange of good local practices with other European citizens around the thematic proposal through intercultural dialogue, give the opportunity to discover other European realities, reinforce active participation in their peoples and support a society based on European values such as solidarity and cooperation. The strong point of the project is the representation of a current issue, which is key on the EU agenda.

In collaboration with 13 entities belonging to 13 different countries of the European Union: Holland, Slovenia, Spain, Italy, France, Malta, Greece, Slovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Lithuania and Latvia, the project will be held over a period of 20 months by holding 6 events.

During each of the events, there will be seminars, round tables, debates on the themes adopted, workshops, conferences with political representatives, case studies, exchange of practices, planning moments for future projects, cultural visits to museums, public entities, social and cultural, as well as foundations and NGOs with social purposes and documentary projects... which will have the objective of raising public opinion on the values of environmental protection, democracy, active participation, solidarity and cooperation.

The project will have a strong impact both locally and at the European level, thanks to the cooperation of the partners and the citizens of the participating localities, together with the territory throughout the entire life process of the initiative.

I encourage you all to take full advantage of your time in Galicia. Explore our beautiful landscapes, sample our delicious cuisine, and immerse yourselves in our unique culture. And remember, the spirit of the Camino is one of hospitality and shared experience. Let us embrace this spirit as we work together to build a more sustainable future for tourism.

I am delighted to welcome you all to Santiago de Compostela for this European event on sustainable tourism. It is a true honor to host representatives from 13 different countries, all united by our shared commitment to preserving our planet and promoting responsible travel.

As we gather here in the heart of Galicia, I would like to highlight the significance of the Camino de Santiago, a pilgrimage route that has inspired travelers for centuries. The Camino embodies the very essence of sustainable tourism: it is a slow, respectful, and environmentally friendly way to experience the world. By following in the footsteps of countless pilgrims, we can appreciate the rich history and cultural heritage of our region while also contributing to the local economy.

I hope that this event will serve as a catalyst for new ideas and collaborations. Let us work together to create a more sustainable future for tourism, one that benefits both people and the planet.
